Dr. Ranjith Dayaratne is an architect by profession and has been in teaching and research for well over forty years. He has previously been a Senior Lecturer (1992-2000) in Architecture at the University of Moratuwa, Sri Lanka, a Visiting Lecturer (1995-2000) at the Colombo School of Architecture, a Visiting Research Fellow (2005-2006) at the University of Melbourne, Australia and a Visiting Professor (2009) at the University of Moratuwa, Sri Lanka. He has been an Asst. Professor from 2000-2004 and 2006-2013, and subsequently an Associate Professor of Architecture until 2022 at the University of Bahrain. He has also been the Chair of the Department of Architecture and Interior Design, University of Bahrain from 2016-2020. He is a Fellow of the Sri Lanka Institute of Architects, an Overseas member of the RIBA and a member of the Society of Commonwealth Fellows, U.K.

He studied architecture at the University of Moratuwa, Sri Lanka, Environmental Psychology at the University of Surrey, UK. and earned his PhD from the University of Newcastle, UK (1992). He has been in teaching which began as being an Asst Lecturer at the University of Moratuwa Sri Lanka (1985-1988), followed by being a Teaching Assistant at the University of Newcastle, UK (1991-1992).

He has also been in active architectural practice while teaching from 1994-2000, in Sri Lanka as the Senior Architect, at Design Consortium (pvt) Ltd (1994-1998), as Architect-Director at Gruhastha (pvt) Ltd (1998-2000) and the Chief Architect of Design Concepts Architects, in Colombo (1998-2000), his own practice. He has thus designed and built houses, a Multi-storey office complex, a Tourist Board Head Office, a Warehouse and Factory Complex for Exporting Tea, a Distilleries Warehouse and a number of Hotels.

Dr. Ranjith Dayaratne has presented academic papers at international conferences across disciplinary boundaries and has published in academic architecture journals, professional magazines, edited books as well as UN working papers; from vernacular architecture to leisure places and from architectural theory to migrant places. He was the main contributor on Sri Lanka to the Encyclopedia of Vernacular Architecture of the World, edited by Prof. Paul Oliver and published by Blackwell. He re-edited three articles on Sri Lanka, in the Encyclopedia of Vernacular Architecture of the World in 2015, edited by Prof. Mercel Vellinga, the Professor of Vernacular Studies at the Oxford Brooks University, UK.

He was the Founder Chairman of the Board of Architectural Publications (BAP) of the Sri Lanka Institute of Architects (SLIA, 1995-2000) which publishes 'The Architect'. He was the Founder Editor of 'Forum'; a student research publication at the University of Newcastle, UK (1990-1992). He founded and edited the internationally refereed journal 'Built-environment-Sri Lanka' published by the SLIA Since 2011. He founded and edits the 'ISVS e-journal' published by the International Society for the Study of Vernacular Settlements (ISVS) since 2012 and indexed by Scopus since 2015. He is also the founding editor of 'Cities People Places' an internationally refereed urban design Journal published by the University of Moratuwa, Sri Lanka since 2015 and remain as its editor. He has also founded the 'Archi-Texts e-journal' in 2024.

He is a founder member of the ISVS, International Society for the Study of Vernacular Settlements which has hosted 12 conferences across the world since 1999 and serves in its advisory Board. He founded the International Conference on 'Cities People and Places' - ICCPP in 2011 together with Dr. Janaka Wijesundara at the University of Moratuwa Sri Lanka which continues to date. He is also on the Advisory Board of the Asian Conference on Environment-Behaviour Studies and serves in the Editorial Board of the AcE-Bs journal.

Dr. Ranjith Dayaratne bridges theory and design through environment-behavior research using a phenomenological approach. His main interest is in the idea of 'place' and how environment-behaviour research can contribute to architecture as place-making. His PhD explored the ideas of 'home' and 'place' in the context of informal settlements and constructed a view of place-making that can be applied to mainstream practice. His academic expertise lies in Socially-Conscious Design, Theories of Architecture, Housing, Vernacular Studies and Social and Behavioral Implications of Design.

One of his students from Australia won the RIBA Gold medal for the best PhD thesis in 2012, while another student from Bahrain won the RIBA Gold medal for the best Master's thesis in Architecture in 2013.

SIGNIFICANT ACHIEVEMENTS: Commonwealth Fellow (1996)

- In 1996, Dr. Ranjith Dayaratne received one of the most prestigious awards of the British Commonwealth titled “Commonwealth Fellowship for Commonwealth Understanding”. He was among the 12 Fellows chosen from 600 nominations of the 54 countries in the Commonwealth. He was the 4th Architect and the 5th Sri Lankan Fellow to receive this award. It recognises the outstanding contribution made to the communities, which he had accomplished while serving at the Sri Lanka Institute of Architects, by initiating a freely distributed journal in the native language, and organising a series of regional workshops and exhibitions that took architecture to the rural villages of Sri Lanka. The Commonwealth Fellowship for Commonwealth Understanding involves study visits to numerous Commonwealth organizations in the U.K and another country (1996 was Canada) and meetings with the Dignitaries of the Commonwealth. As part of this award, he had a face-to-face meeting with Her Majesty the Queen Elizabeth, at the Buckingham Palace, where Her majesty the Queen discussed with him, the ways to promote a comprehensive understanding of the values and the relevance of the British Commonwealth in the contemporary world: particularly Sri Lanka.
